CONCURRENT SESSION I

Map Compilation

D1

This session will cover the procedures and techniques that all mappers need to know when compiling a map from the base up, using instruments and plats.

Rick Norejko, CMS

GIS Panel

D2

This session provides personal experiences on the various GIS environments that you can choose from today. This includes Intergraph, AutoCAD, and ARC/INFO. Most importantly, there will be a discussion on setting up a GIS committee.

Kevin Beakey, Trisha Brush, Pam DeMoss, Deanna Hermreck, Mark Niehaus

Database Design & Spatial Analyst

D3

This session covers the basics of database design by looking at the potential uses of GIS. Demos will focus on the utilization of GIS as an analytical tool and will cover applications such as road management, property appraisal, zoning, and facilities management.

Christopher DeYoe

11:30 - 1:30 p.m.

1:45 – 3:15 p.m. CONCURRENT SESSION II

Transaction Documents

D1

This session is designed to give attendees a better understanding of the legal and land transaction documents they use every day in their jobs. For example, what does a trust do and why do people use them?

Professor John C. Peck

Map Projections & Coordinate Systems

D2

This session will answer such questions as: How is the curvature of the earth represented on a flat surface? What is a projection and what does it represent? What different projections are there to choose from? What is the State Plane Coordinate System?

Dr. George F. McCleary, Jr.

Addressing with GIS

D3

Find out about planning and the issues dealing with 911 addressing. Addressing is not just for emergency response. What is an MSAG file and why is it so important? Who else will be using your addressing? What else do I have to consider when setting up my 911 addressing system?

Nancy Walker Wilson

3:15 - 3:45 p.m. BREAK

Pop & Cookies

Brazillion Ballrooms

3:45 - 5:00 p.m. DISC Personality Styles

D3

People have four distinguishable personality types. These personality types provide insight into how people think, communicate, and what information is important to them. By knowing more about these types, one can learn to communicate better with everyone.

Donita Whitney-Bammerlin, Ph.D

5:00 p.m.
